

'Remember the Blue Buses'

This latest video production from the Samuel Ledgard Society is compiled from material filmed by the late Barry Spencer. He was an avid Ledgard fan, who had the good foresight to extensively film the company during its last years of operation and after its demise.

The DVD runs for 55 minutes and features pure nostalgia of the Ledgard blue buses.

Special thanks to Barry's widow, Sylvia for allowing her late husband's work to be reproduced and issued.

Thanks also to Gauge Film of Wolverhampton for digitally enhancing the original cine film and to Travel Lens Photographic's team of Andy Hurd, Gary Wilkinson and Tony Wilson for their efforts in producing this DVD.
